Following the first two sets of Alpine Plants Postage Stamps issued in 2021 and 2023, Chunghwa Post has offered a third set of four stamps, as described below:

1. Parnassia palustris (NT$8): From the base of glabrous emerald-green orbicular-cordate leaves, the flower stem sprouts with white flowers which blossom from July to September, like plum blossom. The plants grow at mid to high altitudes on shady, ill-lit, cliff scarps and rock faces.
2. Cirsium tatakaense (NT$8): The stem has pinnatisect leaves with elongated lobes. Mature capitula are terminally positioned, nodding at full bloom. Each floret has a purple corolla. This rarely-seen plant blooms between August and October and is endemic to Mt. Jade, where it is found between 2,000 and 3,000 m.
3. Ranunculus formosa-montanus (NT$9): The monomorphic leaves are split into three distinct parts. The yellow flowers blossom from May to August in open spaces along high altitude trails or on sunny slopes.
4. Codonopsis kawakamii (NT$20): Both sides of its ovate leaves are hairy. The campanulate, nipple-shaped, yellowish green flowers bloom from June to August along the edge of forests, thickets and streams at mid to high altitude.
